ELECTION 2012

FACT SHEET: WYOMING

Entering office amid an economic crisis, President Obama has consistently fought for the middle class, protecting children, and education. Here is just some of what has been achieved in Wyoming.

Strengthening the middle class

- The Social Security payroll tax cut instituted by President Obama is a first step to leveling the playing field — $1,000 more in take-home pay for a middle class family earning $50,000 a year. (Source: U.S. Department of the Treasury)

- Over the last two decades, on average the income of the richest 20% of families in Wyoming rose by more than $21,000 while the income of the poorest 20% of families in Wyoming remained about the same. Supporting educators, modernizing schools

- As a result of President Obama’s support for the Education Jobs Fund, signed into law in August 2010, Wyoming received $18 million that helped keep teachers in the classroom, limit increases in class size, and contain layoffs of counselors, classroom aides, and other education support professionals. - President Obama’s American Jobs Act, which the Republican Congress continues to block, would provide $53 million for education jobs, $56 million to modernize schools, and $12 million for community colleges in Wyoming. (Source: A State by State Guide to the American Jobs Act, whitehouse.gov)

Improving health care

- In 2011, Wyoming received $500,000 for school-based health centers that provide screenings, conduct health promotion and disease prevention activities, and enable children with acute or chronic illnesses to attend school. - The Affordable Care Act has brought peace of mind to 323,000 people in Wyoming — they no longer have to worry about lifetime limits. (Source: U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, The Health Care Law & You, healthcare.gov)

- In 2011, more than 2,700 young adults in Wyoming could remain on their parents’ health plans until age 26 — and that number will grow in 2012.
